

Now available
as a facilitated workshop!

The AWESOME! Workshop A New Generation @ Work Engaging Gen Y

What makes Generation Y different? What experiences have influenced their attitudes, values and work styles? What do they need from their employers, managers and colleagues to be successful at work?

To help you better prepare for the task of engaging, inspiring and productively channeling the energies of your Gen Y employees, QMR has created The AWESOME! Workshop, a half-day facilitated training session for your managers, team leaders and other key employees. A QMR Certified trainer will present the workshop, which will include interactive activities, exploring the strengths and challenges Gen Y employees bring to work, viewing the award winning "AWESOME!" videos, developing an action plan for your organization, effective communication strategies for building cross-generational trust, and much more.

The workshop can be presented on site at your workplace to large or small groups. Contact us for more information.

Also available - AWESOME! writer/director Robert Rosell can present a keynote address to your organization on how to engage your Gen Y employees. You'll be enlightened, energized and entertained!

For more information contact
Learning Communications
TEL: 800-622-3610
EM: Sales@learncom.com